

THE OMAHA DAILY BEE

Published every morning. Terms of subscription: Daily (including Sunday), One Year, $10.00; Six Months, $6.00; Three Months, $3.50; Single Copies, 5 Cents.

Advertisements: One square, first insertion, 10 cents per line; second and subsequent insertions, 5 cents per line.

Subscription list: Names and addresses of subscribers, including John A. Smith, 123 Main St., and others.

Business notices: Various short notices and advertisements for local businesses.

Legal notices: Notices regarding legal proceedings and court orders.

Public notices: Notices from government agencies and public officials.

Administrative notices: Notices regarding government operations and policies.

Public health notices: Notices regarding health regulations and disease prevention.

Education notices: Notices regarding school activities and educational institutions.

Religious notices: Notices regarding church services and religious events.

Community notices: Notices regarding local community events and organizations.

Business notices: Additional business notices and advertisements.

Legal notices: Additional legal notices and court reports.

Public notices: Additional public notices and government announcements.

Administrative notices: Additional administrative notices and reports.

Public health notices: Additional public health notices and reports.

Education notices: Additional education notices and reports.

Religious notices: Additional religious notices and reports.

Community notices: Additional community notices and reports.

Business notices: Additional business notices and reports.

Legal notices: Additional legal notices and reports.

Public notices: Additional public notices and reports.

Administrative notices: Additional administrative notices and reports.

Public health notices: Additional public health notices and reports.

Education notices: Additional education notices and reports.

Religious notices: Additional religious notices and reports.

Community notices: Additional community notices and reports.

Business notices: Additional business notices and reports.

Legal notices: Additional legal notices and reports.

Public notices: Additional public notices and reports.

Administrative notices: Additional administrative notices and reports.

Public health notices: Additional public health notices and reports.

Education notices: Additional education notices and reports.

Religious notices: Additional religious notices and reports.

Community notices: Additional community notices and reports.

Business notices: Additional business notices and reports.

Legal notices: Additional legal notices and reports.

Public notices: Additional public notices and reports.

AN ERA OF GOOD FEELING.

There is being manifested a degree of courtesy and good feeling between those who are about to lay down the work of administration at Washington and those who are to take it up which is worthy of more than passing attention.

Now a democratic administration is to give place to a republican administration and the country is witnessing the evidences of cordial respect on both sides.

It is a happy condition which ought to be gratifying to every American citizen. It reflects credit upon the country.

Administrations may come and administrations may go, but the government at Washington goes on forever.

That social story entitled "The Children of the White House" will be suspended now for at least four years.

Benjamin Harrison is on the eve of losing the distinction of being the only living ex-president of the United States.

Grief over the demise of the late Union Depot company is not being so loudly nor so deep as to interfere seriously with the daily pursuits of life.

Passengers in and out of Omaha at present may have ocular demonstration of the fact that something is about to happen to the union depot.

Who shall decide when doctors disagree? The Nebraska legislature, apparently. Just where the patient comes in, however, is not so apparent.

The old Board of Education combine is broken, but a new one was formed so quickly that the hiatus did not affect public confidence in any way or another.

Turkey did not know how greatly the great powers of Europe esteem it until Greece tried to take little Crete away from it and was forced to desist from the attempt.

THE OMAHA DAILY BEE, WEDNESDAY, MARCH 3, 1897.

favorable locations and would otherwise seek homes elsewhere. The true cause of the shifting of population from western towns to Chicago was the collapse of the boom era.

Lincoln papers parade it as a terrible crime for Omaha commercial bodies to attempt to draw manufacturing and jobbing concerns from other towns to Omaha.

Standing up for the flag. General Fitzhugh Lee fought against the flag four years, but he stands up for it now like a man.

A Crop Surplus. Other crops may be poor, but the crop of foot legislation which is being harvested this year beats all previous records.

The Pines for the Dull. When Labor Commissioner Roselle and Mr. Paul Vandervoort fight a duel over the popular split-up in the Reform Press association, the "middle class" would be a dandy place for the encounter.

Awakening Old Fogies. A German commission has presented a report acknowledging the superiority of American railroads over the European system.

Difference in Monopolies. All of the monopolists do not give precisely the same cause for objection. The coal combine has undoubtedly taken advantage of its position to increase the price of fuel.

Emulating John Bull. French ships celebrated the new year on January 3 by shelling the natives on the island of Raiatea, and then fought them on the shore.

Argument in Favor of Turning Them Over to the States. Under the act of congress of March 3, 1893, the president of the United States is authorized to set apart and reserve, in any public lands, any tract of land.

Forest Reserves. The people of the Black Hills, in South Dakota, have been greatly stirred up in that region, and are protesting against it on the ground that many settlers already occupy a large portion of the lands.

PERSONAL AND OTHERWISE. One enthusiastic legislator of Oklahoma wants stringent laws enacted against pointed shoes and the brilliant plaid neckwear now worn by the boys.

THE OMAHA DAILY BEE, WEDNESDAY, MARCH 3, 1897.

There is a chance for lucrative and refreshing employment for which applications should be filed early to avoid the crush.

Lincoln papers parade it as a terrible crime for Omaha commercial bodies to attempt to draw manufacturing and jobbing concerns from other towns to Omaha.

Standing up for the flag. General Fitzhugh Lee fought against the flag four years, but he stands up for it now like a man.

A Crop Surplus. Other crops may be poor, but the crop of foot legislation which is being harvested this year beats all previous records.

The Pines for the Dull. When Labor Commissioner Roselle and Mr. Paul Vandervoort fight a duel over the popular split-up in the Reform Press association, the "middle class" would be a dandy place for the encounter.

Awakening Old Fogies. A German commission has presented a report acknowledging the superiority of American railroads over the European system.

Difference in Monopolies. All of the monopolists do not give precisely the same cause for objection. The coal combine has undoubtedly taken advantage of its position to increase the price of fuel.

Emulating John Bull. French ships celebrated the new year on January 3 by shelling the natives on the island of Raiatea, and then fought them on the shore.

Argument in Favor of Turning Them Over to the States. Under the act of congress of March 3, 1893, the president of the United States is authorized to set apart and reserve, in any public lands, any tract of land.

Forest Reserves. The people of the Black Hills, in South Dakota, have been greatly stirred up in that region, and are protesting against it on the ground that many settlers already occupy a large portion of the lands.

PERSONAL AND OTHERWISE. One enthusiastic legislator of Oklahoma wants stringent laws enacted against pointed shoes and the brilliant plaid neckwear now worn by the boys.

THE OMAHA DAILY BEE, WEDNESDAY, MARCH 3, 1897.

of labor which has brought about the success of our great work. On the first day of June, 1898, at Omaha this exposition will open its doors to all the people of this country and to all nations of the globe.

It is in the interest of the whole land to direct general attention to the gigantic work, and to give it publicity until the exposition is opened. The exposition is destined to bring before the public the great part of our nation's work which is done by the trans-mississippi country and what the latter has already accomplished.

St. Louis (La.) Courier: The legislature of Nebraska has under consideration the question of how much the Transmississippi Exposition to be held in Omaha next year.

St. Louis Tribune: Great Louisiana is, or was, the vast territory reaching from the Mississippi delta to Lake Superior in the north and to Puget Sound in the northwest.

Columbus (O.) Express: While the jubilee exposition of the state of Tennessee has not yet opened its doors, the systematic effort to give publicity to another exposition which will be held in Omaha between June 1 and November 1 next year, already sets the origin of the dates back to 1895.

Butte (Mont.) Journal: Great preparations are being made for the Transmississippi and International Exposition, which will be held in Omaha next year.

Philadelphia Times: Supposing all's true as to the ingredients of Greek fire, it should make a capital material for a war cloud.

Washington Post: The principal objection to a Grecian war is based on the reappearance of all those old, greasy gags in the newspaper.

Washington Star: The German emperor is a little inclined to be annoyed over the existence of a war cloud not personally conducted by him.

Chicago Times-Herald: Skouzes, the Greek minister of war, occupies Crete, but the European powers immediately exclaim, "Ex-skouzes!"

St. Louis Globe-Democrat: If the powers insist upon forcing Greece to evacuate Crete a shameful chapter will be added to the history of European misdeeds.

THE OMAHA DAILY BEE, WEDNESDAY, MARCH 3, 1897.

of labor which has brought about the success of our great work. On the first day of June, 1898, at Omaha this exposition will open its doors to all the people of this country and to all nations of the globe.

It is in the interest of the whole land to direct general attention to the gigantic work, and to give it publicity until the exposition is opened. The exposition is destined to bring before the public the great part of our nation's work which is done by the trans-mississippi country and what the latter has already accomplished.

St. Louis (La.) Courier: The legislature of Nebraska has under consideration the question of how much the Transmississippi Exposition to be held in Omaha next year.

St. Louis Tribune: Great Louisiana is, or was, the vast territory reaching from the Mississippi delta to Lake Superior in the north and to Puget Sound in the northwest.

Columbus (O.) Express: While the jubilee exposition of the state of Tennessee has not yet opened its doors, the systematic effort to give publicity to another exposition which will be held in Omaha between June 1 and November 1 next year, already sets the origin of the dates back to 1895.

Butte (Mont.) Journal: Great preparations are being made for the Transmississippi and International Exposition, which will be held in Omaha next year.

Philadelphia Times: Supposing all's true as to the ingredients of Greek fire, it should make a capital material for a war cloud.

Washington Post: The principal objection to a Grecian war is based on the reappearance of all those old, greasy gags in the newspaper.

Washington Star: The German emperor is a little inclined to be annoyed over the existence of a war cloud not personally conducted by him.

Chicago Times-Herald: Skouzes, the Greek minister of war, occupies Crete, but the European powers immediately exclaim, "Ex-skouzes!"

St. Louis Globe-Democrat: If the powers insist upon forcing Greece to evacuate Crete a shameful chapter will be added to the history of European misdeeds.

COMPULSORY FREE PASSES.

New York Acquiring Fame for Freak Legislation.

The New York legislature is about to pass a bill compelling all railroads in that state to carry free of charge all state officers, including judges and members of the legislature.

The pending bill requires the secretary of state to issue certificates to the officers named and their presentation to a railroad conductor shall be accepted for transportation.

Of course such a statute would be a blatant violation of constitutional rights. The legislature can no more compel a railroad company to carry public officers free than it can compel a hotel company to board them free on a dry goods company to furnish them with other merchandise free.

A public officer has no more right than a private individual to free railroad transportation. Members of the legislature are paid the expenses of travel, in addition to their salaries.

Chicago Record: "They say Boston philanthropist Worcester made very much of it. Of course, poor little creature; you know they never get to make any racket themselves."

Cleveland Plain Dealer: "When you come to compare the Cuban machete with the southern negro's razor, the former simply isn't in the same class."

Detroit Free Press: "Maud says she doesn't care 2 cents for him. 'That is no sign that she does not think a lot of him. Just think, she would not fight for bargains, that are marked down from $20 to $3.50.'"

Chicago Tribune: Dealer-Here is the most popular brand of five-cent cigar we have. It's about as good as a dime cigar. Customer-How has it been on the market?

KEEPING THE PEACE. Cleveland Plain Dealer. They are growling at each other. Like a lot of angry eels. Each is jealous and suspicious. If another buys any more. Each would like to crush the others. Yet each knows that he would be crushed. And they'll keep the peace or Europe. If it takes a light to do it!

OUR FLAG. Glorious banner! grand and fair, Waving bravely in the air. Dearest folds of beauty rare, Red and white and blue. Bright it gleams above the trees, Flung it proudly on the breeze. Let it be folded to the seams, Red and white and blue. For its colors brave and bright, And its stars of matchless might, Flood our hearts with wild delight, Red and white and blue. Traitors have its strength defied, The cowardly have its folds denied, Still it floats in power and pride, Red and white and blue. Often torn by shot and shell, Dearer still we love you well, Led by you, would face Death's knell, Red and white and blue. Freedom, liberty, our nation's bars, Bought with blood, and death, and scars, Flung it proudly on the breeze, Red and white and blue. Wm. W. W. MARY CLINTON.

B & K BROWNING, KING & CO. 15 W. Cor. 15th and Douglas Sts.

A Clean Sweep... HAS BEEN MADE WITH ALL THOSE SUITS AND OVERCOATS, IN BOTH THE MEN'S AND CHILDREN'S DEPARTMENTS, THAT FOR ONE REASON OR ANOTHER DIDN'T SELL AS WE HAD EXPECTED, AND NOW WE HAVEN'T ANYTHING ON HAND THAT IS IN ANY WAY BEHIND THE TIMES.

THERE ARE A FEW ODD SUITS LEFT, HERE AND THERE, THAT ARE STILL TO BE HAD AT A VERY GREAT REDUCTION FROM FORMER PRICES, BUT NOT MANY OF THEM. IN THE CHILDREN'S DEPARTMENT, TOO, THERE REMAIN A FEW GENUINE BARGAINS.

BUT WE ARE ABOUT READY NOW TO SHOW YOU THE NEW THINGS FOR SPRING. COME IN WHEN YOU HAVE TIME.